

Rest in Peace

Blessed is the man who remains steadfast under trial, for when he has stood the test he will receive the crown of life, which God has promised to those who love him.

James 1:12 ESV

Thank you all for gathering with us on this special today. Thank you for your overwelming support during this time. May the Lord bless and keep you.

*Our deepest gratitude,
-The Okoro Family*

In Loving Memory

SUNDAY AMAMA OKORO

December 12th, 1954 - January 31st 2023

Memorial Service

J.B. Jenkins Funeral Home
7474 Landover Rd, Landover, MD
Saturday, March 4th

3:30-4PM Visitation 4PM Service

Obituary

Sunday Amama Okoro, age 68, of Abia, Nigeria has passed away January 31st, 2023. He is survived by four children: Miracle, Esther, Hope, and Emmanuel Okoro.

Sunday grew up in the village Ohanku, which is part of Okotoko in Abia State. Later on, he migrated to the United States of America to attend college. For his undergrad year, he attended Alabama State University. Afterwards, he took master level courses towards an engineering degree at Howard University.

Sunday Okoro spent most of his life living in the Washington metropolitan area where he married and then had children. Although he worked two jobs providing for his family, he never neglected instilling in his children the importance of an education. He also never failed in his duties as a father. Those who knew Sunday Okoro, knew that he was a man of great discipline, devoted Christian faith, and a man of great endurance. Despite the challenges that he faced in life, he was always thankful to God and practiced forgiveness.

Apart from his faith and discipline, Sunday Okoro knew how to find the joy and humor in simple day to day tasks. He happily hummed hymnals while he cooked his food, made his smoothies, while he cleaned up and even while he got ready. During his down time, he enjoyed sports and loved watching movies of practically almost any genre. He also was proud of his ability to solve complex mathematical problems. Apart from being devoted to his family, he would also do anything that he could to help his community in Nigeria. He was head of his village and even built a church there.

Even though it grieves our hearts that Sunday Okoro is no longer physically with us, our family is grateful to know that he's at peace in Heaven, healed from his stroke and is reunited with his siblings, parents, and dear friends. Service will be held at J. B. Jenkins Funeral Home on March 4th at 3:30PM; all are welcome.

One of the quotes that Sunday Okoro lived by as testimony to his disciplined life was, "You should die today so you can live forever tomorrow."

Order of Service

Visitation

Welcome

Reading of the Old Test.

Psalms 23

Reading of the New Test.

John 14:1-6

Prayer

led by Rev. Skip Little

Song Selection

"Nearer, my God, to Thee" Perry Como

Acknowledgments

Reading of the Obituary

Personal Reflections

from Miracle, Esther and Hope

Song Selection

"Thank You" Ray Boltz

Eulogy

by Rev Skip Little

Closing prayer & Thanks

Tributes

Letter from D.C. Mayor Muriel Bowser read by Collin Burrell, ESA DOEE

Fianna Phill, UST Branch Chief, DOEE

